Dear [REDACTED]

Official Information Act request relating to advice about James Wallace

Thank you for your request made under the Official Information Act (the Act), received on 27 November 2023. Your request was addressed to both the Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet (DPMC) and the Prime Minister and requested:

“All advice, briefings, reports, memos, and emails received or sent by the Office of the Prime Minister about James Wallace, including any warnings concerning Mr Wallace's behaviour and decisions around the stripping of his knighthood, between 1 January 2022 and 27 November 2023.

I understand that a decision on this OIA request for information should be made within 20 working days. Please reply all.”

As previously noted, DPMC can only respond in relation to information that we hold. On 29 November 2023, we transferred your request to the extent it was for any email correspondence with the former Prime Ministers Rt Hon Chris Hipkins and Rt Hon Dame Jacinda Ardern during their terms as Prime Minister to the Department of Internal Affairs (DIA). I refer you to both the responses from the Prime Minister and DIA.

Information being released

Mr James Wallace was made an Officer of the New Zealand Order of Merit in the New Year 2001 Honours List for his services to the arts. Mr Wallace was promoted to Knight Companion of the New Zealand Order of Merit (KNZM) in the 2011 Queen's Birthday Honours List.

On 23 March 2021, Mr Wallace was found guilty on three charges of indecent assault and two charges of attempting to dissuade a witness. Mr Wallace had name suppression until 2pm on 28 June 2023, when name suppression lapsed, pursuant to court order.

The King approved the cancellation and annulment of Mr Wallace's honour on 15 August, on the advice of the Prime Minister. You can find the gazette notice of this here:

[IN-CONFIDENCE]

Kia ora Andrew and Charlotte,

We've now had formal notification from the Palace that the King has approved the cancellation of James Wallace's Knighthood and we have written to Mr Wallace to advise him. The next step is for the publication of a Gazette notice to that effect, which will be published in the NZ Gazette on Monday. The PM may be asked about it at his post Cabinet press conference.

Please keep this confidential until Monday to allow time for Mr Wallace's lawyer to inform him first.

Some key messages if the PM is asked:

- Notification in the Gazette is the final formal step in the forfeiture process.
- The PM formally advised The King to cancel and annul the appointment of James Wallace as a Knight Companion of the New Zealand Order of Merit.
- The date of 15 August set out in the Gazette notice is the date of the King's formal approval.
- As a result, Mr Wallace is no longer entitled to use the title "Sir" or the post-nominal "KNZM", and has been asked to return his Warrant of appointment and honours insignia to the Honours Unit.

Out of scope

- There is more information about the forfeiture process on DPMC's website: Having honours taken away \(forfeiture\) | Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet \(DPMC\)

Hope that all makes sense, let me know if you need anything more from us.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL CHAMBERS

Memo

4 August 2023

To Prime Minister

From Nicola Purvis

Subject Potential forfeiture of honours – Sir James Wallace – next steps

Summary

1 On 2 July, you advised that you wished to initiate the process for the forfeiture of honours for Sir James Hay Wallace. This briefing sets out Sir James' response, and advises you as to next steps, if, having considered that response, you decide to continue the process.

Background

- 2 Sir James Wallace was appointed as a Knight Companion of the New Zealand Order of Merit (KNZM) at QB2011, for services to the arts. Sir James had previously been appointed as an Officer of the New Zealand Order of Merit (ONZM) at NY2001, for services to the arts.
- 3 On 23 March 2021 following a four-week jury trial in the High Court, Sir James was convicted of three charges of indecent assault, and two charges of attempting to dissuade one of the complainants from giving evidence. He was later sentenced to two years and four months imprisonment.
- 4 The High Court Judge noted when sentencing Sir James that he had an "inability" to accept his offending, and considered himself to be "a victim of the tall poppy syndrome." It has been publicly reported that the Judge also noted to Sir James that Sir James' "sense of self-entitlement is repeated in the affidavit you provided for sentencing, it displays a lack of empathy for your victims and confirms your lack of insight into your offending."
- 5 Between 2021 and June 2023 Sir James appealed to the Court of Appeal and subsequently the Supreme Court on both his conviction and sentence, and a decision by the High Court declining his application for permanent suppression of his name. On 21 March 2023, the Supreme Court declined an application for leave to appeal his convictions and sentence, and on 26 June 2023 declined his application for leave to appeal an order for the continuing suppression of his name to lapse, which exhausted Sir James' legal appeal rights.
- 6 The Acting Clerk of the Executive Council wrote to Sir James to inform him that, as a result of these matters, you were considering recommending to the King that his appointment as a Knight Companion of the New Zealand Order of Merit be cancelled. He was invited to provide any information or submission in relation to the matter that he considered relevant, by Friday 4 August. A copy of that letter is attached as Appendix 1.

Sir James' response

7 Sir James replied by letter dated 4 August 2023. A copy of that letter is attached as Appendix 2.

Comment

10 As you know, the Prime Minister may consider advising the Sovereign to cancel the appointment of a person to an Order where an individual's actions are such that, if they continue to hold that honour, the honours system would be brought into disrepute.

11 Examples include (but are not limited to) situations where the holder of an honour is sentenced to more than three months in prison, and:

11.1 the offence involved disloyalty to the state; or

11.2 the offence was committed by a civil servant and involved serious dereliction of duty; or

11.3 the offence involved other disgraceful conduct such that public opinion would consider it wrong for the offender to hold a Royal honour (bringing the honours system into disrepute).

12 In addition, there is a degree of discretion in the decision to initiate the process for the forfeiture of honours. For example, the Prime Minister may consider forfeiture in situations where, while there has been no conviction, an individual's actions are such that, if they continue to hold an honour, the honours system would be brought into disrepute.

15

Next steps

- 16 If you decide to proceed with forfeiture of Sir James' honour, the next steps would be as follows:
 - 16.1 You make a formal submission to the King recommending he direct the cancellation and annulment of Sir James' appointment;
 - 16.2 The King gives his formal approval;
 - 16.3 The Secretary and Registrar writes to Sir James to advise him of the decision and to ask him to return his insignia and warrant of appointment;
 - 16.4 The cancellation of Sir James' appointment is published in the New Zealand Gazette;
 - 16.5 If you wish, your office issues a media statement.
- 17 If you decide to make the formal submission to the King recommending he direct the cancellation and annulment of Sir James' appointment, we recommend you do not make any comment to the media until the process is complete and the cancellation is published. If asked, we recommend you say that there is a process underway and no comment will be made until it is completed.

Recommendations

- 18 I recommend that you:
 - 18.1 note that on 2 July 2023, you agreed in principle that the threshold for forfeiture of Sir James Wallace's appointment as a Knight Companion of the New Zealand Order of Merit had been met;
 - 18.2 note the response provided by Sir James Wallace to a letter from the Acting Secretary of the Executive Council in relation to this matter;
 - 18.3 s9(2)(f)(iv), s9(2)(g)(i)
 - 18.4 agree to recommend to the King that he direct the cancellation and annulment of the appointment of Sir James Hay Wallace's appointment as a Knight Companion of the New Zealand Order of Merit;
 - 18.5 if you agree to recommend that cancellation and annulment, sign the attached submission to the King, and the covering letter to his Principal Private Secretary.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL CHAMBERS

Memo

30 June 2023

To Prime Minister

From Nicola Purvis

Subject Potential forfeiture (cancellation) of honour: Sir James Wallace

Purpose and summary

- 1 This note provides you with advice in relation to the question of the potential forfeiture of an honour by Sir James Hay Wallace, and seeks your agreement to continue the process for consideration of forfeiture.

Background

- 2 Sir James Wallace was appointed as a Knight Companion of the New Zealand Order of Merit (KNZM) at QB2011, for services to the arts. His citation read:

“Mr Wallace, as founder and Director of the James Wallace Arts Trust, has made a significant contribution as a patron of the arts in New Zealand.

Last year he made the Pah Homestead - now the TSB Bank Wallace Arts Centre - the permanent home of the Trust Collection of more than 5,500 contemporary New Zealand artworks, said to be worth more than $50 million, for display to the public in rotating exhibitions free of charge. Mr Wallace funds the Trust at $1.5 million per year so that it can continue to add to the collection and support the arts in general in New Zealand. This gift is said to be the largest given to Auckland City since Sir John Logan Campbell gave Cornwall Park. Mr Wallace has also given Rannoch, a large arts and crafts house, to the Trust for use for fundraising events for artists and art organisations. The annual Wallace Arts Awards, established in 1992, are the longest surviving and largest awards of their kind in New Zealand, with prizes including overseas residencies. Mr Wallace is a patron, trustee and/or board member of more than 20 organisations, including the Auckland Philharmonia Orchestra and the NBR New Zealand Opera. He has spent more than 50 years doing voluntary work for a range of organisations including the New Zealand Ski Association.”

- 3 Sir James had previously been appointed as an Officer of the New Zealand Order of Merit (ONZM) at NY2001, for services to the arts.
- 4 On 23 March 2021 following a four-week jury trial in the High Court, Sir James was convicted of three charges of indecent assault, and two charges of attempting to dissuade one of the complainants from giving evidence. He was later sentenced to two years and four months imprisonment.

- 5 The High Court Judge noted when sentencing Sir James that he had an “inability” to accept his offending, and considered himself to be “a victim of the tall poppy syndrome.” It has been publicly reported that the Judge also noted to Sir James that Sir James’ “sense of self-entitlement is repeated in the affidavit you provided for sentencing, it displays a lack of empathy for your victims and confirms your lack of insight into your offending.”
- 6 Between 2021 and June 2023 Sir James appealed to the Court of Appeal and subsequently the Supreme Court on both his conviction and sentence, and a decision by the High Court declining his application for permanent suppression of his name. In declining his appeal of his sentencing, the Court of Appeal noted “The attempts to dissuade H from giving evidence were plainly carried out at the behest of Sir James and constituted a persistent flagrant attempt to “buy off” a crucial witness in a criminal trial. That offending was audacious and justified a stern response from the Court.”
- 7 On 21 March 2023, the Supreme Court declined an application for leave to appeal his convictions and sentence, and on 26 June 2023 declined his application for leave to appeal an order for the continuing suppression of his name to lapse. Sir James’ legal appeal rights have now been exhausted.
- 8 On 28 June 2023 following the lapse of the suppression order relating to Sir James, the Acting Prime Minister, Hon Sepuloni, asked the Cabinet Office to initiate the forfeiture process in respect of Sir James’ honour.

Guidelines on forfeiture

- 9 An award of an honour may be cancelled by the Sovereign, on the advice of the Prime Minister. Appointments of any person to the New Zealand Order of Merit or the Queen’s Service Order may also be cancelled by the Sovereign, on the advice of the Prime Minister. The Prime Minister may consider advising the Sovereign to cancel the appointment of a person to an honour where an individual’s actions are such that, if they continue to hold that honour, the honours system would be brought into disrepute.
- 10 Examples include (but are not limited to) situations where the holder of an honour is sentenced to more than three months in prison, and:
- 10.1 the offence involved disloyalty to the state; or
 - 10.2 the offence was committed by a civil servant and involved serious dereliction of duty; or
 - 10.3 the offence involved other disgraceful conduct such that public opinion would consider it wrong for the offender to hold a Royal honour (bringing the honours system into disrepute).

11 s9(2)(f)(iv), s9(2)(g)(i)

- 12 There have not been many cases of honours being cancelled in New Zealand. Recorded cases include:

- 12.1 In 2021, Sir Ron Brierley forfeited his knighthood (awarded NY1988, for services to business management and the community), following him entering a plea of guilty to three charges of possessing child sex abuse material (he was subsequently sentenced to 10 months jail with a four month non-parole period);
- 12.2 In 2018, Mr Hugh Hamilton, a former Mayor of the Central Hawkes Bay District forfeited his MNZM (awarded QB1997 for services to local body and community affairs), after being sentenced to four years and nine months imprisonment on charges of theft by a person in a special relationship;
- 12.3 In 2000, Dr Morgan Fahey, a former deputy mayor of Christchurch, forfeited his OBE (awarded QB1977 for services to the community) after being sentenced to six years' imprisonment for rape, sexual violation, and sexual assault;
- 12.4 In 1987, traffic officer David Seath forfeited his QSM (awarded NY1985 in recognition of services to traffic enforcement and road safety) after he was convicted of falsely endorsing summons notices for traffic prosecutions. He was fined $13,000 plus $770 costs;
- 12.5 In 1980, the former Premier of the Cook Islands, Sir Albert Henry forfeited his KBE after he was convicted on three charges of conspiracy to defraud the Crown (fraud relating to the 1978 Cook Islands' general election). (In that case, the recommendation for cancellation came from the New Zealand government, but was discussed with the Cook Islands' Premier.)

In-principle decision on threshold

- 13 The next step in the forfeiture process is for you to make an in-principle decision as to whether the threshold for forfeiture has been met, which would be then subject to Sir James' views before a final decision is made as to whether to recommend cancellation of the honour.

s9(2)(f)(iv), s9(2)(g)(i)

Next steps

- 17 If you make an in-principle decision that the threshold for forfeiture of the honour has been met in this case, the Clerk of the Executive Council will write to Sir James advising of that in-principle decision and giving him 30 days to either resign from his honour or make representations on the prospect of cancellation.

- 18 You would then make a final decision as to whether to recommend the cancellation of Sir James' honour to the King, after taking into account any representation he makes. If no response is received, you can proceed to make a final decision.

Public comment on the process

- 19 It is important from a natural justice perspective that no comment is made before the 30 days has elapsed that suggests a decision as to forfeiture has already been made.

Recommendations

20 I recommend that you:

20.1 note that on 23 March 2021 Sir James Wallace was convicted of three charges of indecent assault, and two charges of attempting to dissuade one of the complainants from giving evidence. He was sentenced to two years and four months imprisonment;

20.2 note that Sir James Wallace holds the following New Zealand Royal honour:

20.2.1 appointment as a Knight Companion of the New Zealand Order of Merit (KNZM) at QB2011, for services to the arts;

20.3 note that on 28 June 2023 the Acting Prime Minister, Hon Sepuloni, initiated the forfeiture process in respect of Sir James Wallace's honour;

s9(2)(f)(iv), s9(2)(g)(i)

20.5 agree in principle that the threshold for forfeiture of the honour has been met; and

AGREE / DISAGREE

20.6 direct the Clerk of the Executive Council to write to Sir James Hay Wallace to seek his views on the forfeiture of his honour.

The Acting Prime Minister has initiated the process for honours forfeiture. That process includes affording Sir James Wallace an opportunity to respond with any comments that he considers should be taken into account. There will be no further comment until that process has reached its conclusion.

How about something like this:

- the Prime Minister will be initiating the process for honours forfeiture; [PMO to confirm]
- that process includes affording Sir James an opportunity to respond with any comments that he considers should be taken into account;
- if after that time the Prime Minister decides to proceed with recommending forfeiture of

- the honour, he will write to The King advising him to cancel the honour;
- there will be no further updates provided until that process has reached a conclusion

Hi!
Can we get some lines on this issue, or get the Acting PM on camera if she's free.

James Wallace has lost name suppression, and charged with sexual assault. What considerations will be made regarding his Knighthood?

Cheers
